

Biker Friendly Cafés

We all know a few, and maybe only visited some once whilst out on tour. Here are two I can thoroughly recommend having been to both on a few occasions. Each time they were always busy with bikes coming and going.

Two Hoots Tea Room – Devil’s Bridge, Aberystwyth.

Always plenty of bikes there. When arriving by bike ride through the car park directly to the cafe , bikes are parked outside the café or next to the railway if you prefer. After tea and your preferred cake there is always the railway if you like that sort of thing. Or a visit to the nearby Devil’s Bridge. The roads nearby are superb for biking.

Chopper's Café – Burbage

Placed right next to the made for bikes A338, again a favourite biker spot. I can totally recommend the bacon buttie! This is always a target for me on rides up from Cornwall across country on my way to Buckinghamshire (got to avoid those motorways!) The route I use, A30/303 – A338 takes me straight by Chopper's. Both roads and café are recommended.

I expect you all have your favourite! How about sharing?
